

14th International Conference on
MODULARITY
March 16-19, Colorado, USA

15

Invitation to Modularity 2015

March 16-19, 2015

Colorado, USA

General co-chairs:

Robert France, Colorado State University, USA

Sudipto Ghosh, Colorado State University, USA

Denver, Colorado

- Mile high city
- Population 634,265
- 40 museums and historic attractions
- Rocky mountains in the backyard
- 300 days of sunshine

Denver International Airport

- Major airline hub
- 5th busiest in the US, 13th in the world
- Non-stop flights to 23 international cities (London, Frankfurt, Reykjavik-Keflavik, ...)
- Many airlines

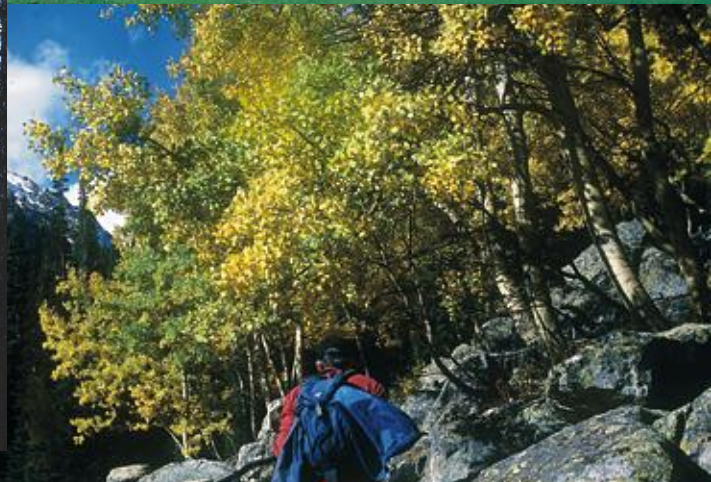

City of Denver

Light rail offers connections between outlying areas and downtown Denver

Photo credit: Denver Convention and Visitors Bureau

Colorado Outdoor Activities

Rocky Mountain National Park, ski areas,...
All in our backyard!

Photo credit: Denver Convention and Visitors Bureau

Conference Venues

- Denver Downtown (20-25 minutes from airport)
- Denver Tech Center (20-25 minutes from airport; 20 minutes from downtown by light rail)
- Fort Collins (1.5-2 hours from airport, north of Denver)

Colorado State University

- Founded in 1870
- Leading research university

Computer Science Building

Photo credit: Department of Computer Science, CSU

Fort Collins, Colorado

- Home to Colorado State University
- Top-ranked place in several rankings
 - Money Magazine named Fort Collins the best place in the country to live
- Situated at the foothills of Rocky Mountains
- High-tech companies in the city
 - Agilent, AMD, Avago, Agilent, CA, HP, Intel, etc.
- Lots of recreational opportunities

14th International Conference on
MODULARITY
March 16-19, Colorado, USA

Modularity 2015

March 16-19, 2015

Colorado, USA

General co-chairs:

Robert France, Colorado State University, USA

Sudipto Ghosh, Colorado State University, USA